Welcome back!

The team at Grosvenor Australia extends their best wishes for the New Year! We are excited to share recent and upcoming projects with you all. Our website is being constantly updated with new information about us and everything you need to know to solve all your glazing projects, big or small.

Furthermore, we urge all our customers to follow us on Facebook and twitter! We are using these social media outlets for your benefit, to gain greater insight into Grosvenor as a business and display our excellent efforts in recent projects, so be sure to follow us!

Our Director, Sam Kikitis, again extends his greatest wishes to work with existing and potential future clients and is open to conversations with anyone wanting to retrieve a quote or information about a particular project. This edition of Grosvenor Press will explore our two most recent large-scale projects, SP Jain and Oil Search. For more pictures of these projects feel free to head to our website and or Facebook page!

At the end of last year, Grosvenor employees took to the golf-course for their end of year party! It was a great day for all.

Grosvenor Golf Day

On the 22nd of December, Grosvenor Staff enjoyed a unique 'putting' experience at Canterbury Golf Course. After a good morning breakfast, the boys went and enjoyed a fun day out to celebrate another good year at Grosvenor.

The day was not without tribulations, as many found it difficult to get the ball in the hole. Our overall champion golfer was Tony our Site Supervisor who was able to beat the rest and bask in the glory of being Grosvenor's first Golf Champion! Ending with a BBQ back at the office, everyone had a fun-filled day!

Oil Search Project Overview

We were able to complete an interesting project at Oil Search. Here we were given the opportunity to work with curved glass panels. Structural Glazing is one of Grosvenor's specialties, and highlights our ability to complete all types of projects. No project cannot be done, big or small; Grosvenor has your glazing solutions!
